Keynote Presenter: Olga Trujillo, JD

Child Abuse & Sexual Assault Survivor; Speaker & Consultant

Olga grew up in a family ravaged by violence.

Daily, Olga witnessed her father's brutal and terrifying attacks on her mother. She herself suffered constant physical, emotional, and sexual abuse - from her father, her brothers, and as she grew older, many others outside her family.

With astounding clarity borne from years of intensive work, Olga has unraveled the impact of violence in her life. It is this insight - combined with over a decade of experience working with advocates from a national to a grass-roots level - which guides and inspires her work today.

Olga Trujillo is an independent consultant, nationally renowned speaker, survivor, and attorney dedicated to enhancing understanding of - and building effective responses to - violence against women and children.

Her career began in the early nineties at the U.S. Department of Justice. For four years, she served as General Counsel to the Office of Justice Programs, the youngest woman and only Latina to ever hold this position. In 1995, Olga joined the Department of Justice's Office for Victims of Crime (OVC) as legal counsel, and subsequently became Director of the Special Projects Division. In this capacity, she oversaw an eight million dollar budget supporting technical assistance and training projects on victim issues.

Olga's rare combination of personal experience and professional skills compelled her to create ORT Solutions in 2001 (now Olga Trujillo Consulting). Olga Trujillo Consulting's mission is to help provide comprehensive, thought-provoking and innovative approaches to child abuse, domestic violence, sexual assault, immigration and human trafficking issues. Offering a myriad of consulting services, Olga Trujillo Consulting partners with each client to identify and assess their needs and tailor a comprehensive plan to meet those goals.

Information and Special Features

Continuing Education Hours: Will be available for law enforcement, attorneys, social workers, licensed marital and family therapists, batterers' intervention program facilitators and chemical dependency counselors. Instructions on receiving CEUs will be included in the registrants' packets distributed at registration.

ICADV Auction: Don't miss the 12th annual ICADV auction and reception! It will be held in conjunction with the conference in Liberty Hall from 8:00 am to 8:00 pm on October 19th. The auction will feature tickets to sporting events, gift certificates to local restaurants, children's items, holiday gift baskets, college logo items, hotel packages, and much, much more. This is a perfect time to begin your holiday shopping. Refreshments, cash bar, and entertainment will be available from 5:30 to 8:00 pm, along with some very special items auctioned live by well-known auctioneer Bret Busby!

Claire's Comfort for Kids: ICADV continues to support the Claire's Comfort for Kids program which provides blankets for shelters and advocacy programs to give to their local law enforcement and first responders. These blankets give comfort to children experiencing trauma. Member programs will be able to pick up blankets to take back to their communities and distribute to their law enforcement partners. Please contact Linda Olvey at 317-917-3685 X 7 if you have questions.

Workshop Tracks

This year, ICADV will offer 4 workshop tracks; Stepping on the Path, Batterers Intervention Programming, Prevention Education, and General Advocacy Issues. The Stepping on the Path track is a condensed version of ICADV's basic advocacy skills training and is recommended for new (less than 12 months experience) advocates and professionals new to working with survivors. While this is not a closed track, it is highly recommended that participants who fall in that category attend all 5 sessions making up the Stepping on the Path track. All attendees are welcome to attend any session which piques their interest.
